

Confessing the Word

Lord God, I confess that Your Word is a lamp for my feet and a light on my path.

Psalm 119:105 (NIV)

Lord God, I have heard these things; as I look at them all.
I will admit that I have been stubborn.

I will claim to rely on You, God.

I thank You that from now on You will tell me of new things and of hidden things unknown to me.

They are created now, and not long ago; I have not heard of them before today.

So I cannot say, 'Yes, I knew of them.' I will listen to You.

Isaiah 48:6, 7 (NIV)

Lord God, You said to me that I will see correctly . . .
for You are watching to see that Your Word is fulfilled.
I thank You that every word You give me will come true.

Jeremiah 1:12 (NIV)

Lord God, I thank You for the faith of father Abraham.
Just as Abraham believed You, God, who gives life to the dead,
I will believe You.

I will call into being things that were not as if they are.

It is by Your power and strength that I walk in faith.

Romans 4:17 (NIV)

Lord God, I believe that the word of God is alive and active.
I thank You that Your Word is sharper than any double-edged sword.
I confess that Your Word penetrates even to dividing soul and spirit, joints and marrow.

I thank You that Your Word judges the thoughts and attitudes of my heart, in order to lead me into everlasting life.

Hebrews 4:12 (NIV)

Lord God, I will hold unswervingly to the hope we profess.
I believe that You promised this to me and You are faithful.

Hebrews 10:23 (NIV)
